

Brad Humphrey

Brad Humphrey, Founder of Pinnacle Development Group, is a nationally acclaimed speaker at construction conferences across North America, Australia, New Zealand, South America, and Europe. He has been called the Contractor's "best friend," having now written more than 300 published articles and hosted an international Podcast, sponsored by Caterpillar, called The Contractor's Best Friend Podcast, for seven consecutive seasons.

Having owned several construction companies, Brad understands the challenges and opportunities facing those in construction. He continues to add to his best practices by his work with high profitable construction companies.

Brad is author of The 21st Century Supervisor, Coaching the Emerging Leader, Mentoring, Job Site Planning, and the new hit book, Construction: The Best Industry in the World, which is available in English and Spanish. Brad's 2-Minute Drill Video Series™ will be re-released in 2025, after contractors across the globe have asked Brad to bring back to educate their new hires. (Watch for it in January 2025.)

Brad continues to speak to individual contractors, associations, and conferences across the globe. Bringing his high energy and practical talk about tough issues, you will enjoy Brad's honesty and clarity about issues that contractors struggle to address!
